Investigating and resolving a complaint

- If the complaint has not been resolved within eight weeks, we will write to you to explain why we are still not in a position to make a final response and giving reasons for the further delay
- Complaints are deemed closed either when the final response letter has been provided to you or if you accepted an earlier response in writing

What can you do if you remain unsatisfied by our treatment of your complaint?

If we haven't issued our final response letter within eight weeks from the date you first raised your complaint, or if you're dissatisfied with our final response, you may be eligible to refer your complaint to the Financial Ombudsman Service (FOS) for an independent review. We will inform you if you can refer your complaint to the Ombudsman. The complaint should be referred to the FOS within six months from the date of our final response.
